DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Saka et al., EP 747183, see particularly page 6.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kymmene et al., EP 682091. Kymmene et al., teach the preservation of wood and lignocellulose materials by treatment with a complexed siloxane resin wherein a water-resistance is achieved and the complexing agent minimizes leaching from the wood. The preferred complexing agents are the same agents as claimed in the instant invention (see claim 7).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 1744

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bugg U.S. patent No. 4,044,172 in view of Silenius et al., WO 94/22647.

Bugg teaches the application of a water-resistant coating onto wood surfaces, that coating including a siloxane and alkyl polymer mixture.

Silenius et al., teach the known and expected efficacy of complexing agents in wood preservative composition to prevent leaching of such composition from the treated surface.

It would have been well within the purview of one of ordinary skill in the art to include the complexing agents of Silenius et al., in the preservative coating of Bugg because such inclusion would prevent later leaching of the treating composition from the wood.
